Tatjana Schoenmaker bags Gold for South Africa

Tatjana Schoenmaker, won South Africa's first gold medal at the Tokyo Olympics. Schoenmaker, who won silver in the 100m breaststroke on 27 July, was competing in her eighth race in five days and delivered the near-perfect performance under supreme pressure.

Tatjana broke the world record in the 200m breaststroke event at the Olympic Games. Her world record time of 2:18.95, left her nearly a second ahead of Americans Lilly King and Annie Lazor. Tatjana has quickly become the darling of the Olympic village.

Tatjana came to Tokyo as the number-one-ranked swimmer and she excelled. "It still hasn't really sunk in! I'm excited to go back home and celebrate this with my family. I don't wish for my Olympic dream to be over," said Schoenmaker.

While South Africa was in lockdown, Tatjana trained every day to be ready for the Olympics. Like all Olympians, what we see when they're competing is only a fraction of the time and effort that goes into competing at such a high level.

Coach Rocco Meiring, helped Tatjana to prepare for the Olympic Games by building her fitness and mental strength. He also trained her to perfect her swimming techniques during practices which took place every day. Training took place at an outdoor pool, in freezing air temperatures.

Tatjana exceeded all expectations and couldn't be happier about her achievement at the Olympics. "This is my first Olympics, so for me to get a lane into the final was an achievement! To be honest, I just wanted to make the final," she said.
